DRINKING IN MAINE.

Bishop Bowman says: "I have been twice through Maine lately. I was in just such towns where you would most likely find evasions of the prohibitory law—Portland, Bangor, and others. I don't care what the enemies of prohibition say; to my observation, and from all that I heard and experienced, temperance in Maine—more than that, prohibition—is a decided success. Drunkenness and rowdyism, with all their attendant disgrace, are nowhere visible. I found this, too, to be the case in Kansas. Iowa is a little different. In the country, prohibition prevails. In the larger cities the foreign element seems to defy the law in many instances. This difficulty is being surmounted and prohibition will yet triumph."

Bishop Bowman is a good man, says the Milwaukee Sentinel, but it is evident he is troubled with myopia. The police records of Portland for last year show 379 persons were arrested for drunkenness, 682 for drunkenness and disturbance, 81 as common drunkards and 172 for assault committed while drunk. Two murders were committed by intoxicated persons, and a young man was found dead under circumstances that made it moral certainty that he had been murdered. It was discovered that he had been drinking with some companions the greater part of the previous night. Of the 1,314 persons arrested for drunkenness and offences growing out of drunkenness, 397 were women and 244 minors. That at the home of Neal Dow

As to Bangor, an entirely trustworthy correspondent says:

Bangor sells rum as freely as if there were no prohibitory law. Every hotel has an open bar, every street in the business portion of the city has the same, and the more important the street the finer are the bar-rooms and surroundings. The main street has eight or ten; Broad, Exchange, Central, Hammond, Harlow and other thoroughfares in the city are filled with them, and the traffic is as open as that of the grocery or dry goods store.

Another correspondent has given the names of the saloonkeepers and nobody has made a specific denial of the statements. This is a plain statement of fact which could easily be refuted if untrue.

As to Bath, we have the authority of a resident prohibitionist, the Rev. E. Stackpole, that a thriving liquor business is carried on. Bath has a population of 8,000. Last year thirty-three United States licenses were taken out. There are fifty shops at least. Mr. Stackpole says they average $5 a night, or $1,825 per year for each shop, of a total of $90,000. But he intimates that the total liquor bill for the city every year is $180,000. He complains that while the liquor bill is $180,000, the school bill is only $16,000 and for the support of the churches $20,000.

Undoubtedly the open sale of liquor has been interfered with in many places in the state, and some of the alluring influence of the open saloon impaired. But the extraordinary proportion of women and minors among those arrested for drunkenness in Portland, shows an offset in the injury that comes from a failing to regulate the traffic as a license system regulates it.

Bishop Bowman says prohibition is successful at Bangor. Neal Dow and Joseph Cook call Bangor the modern Sodom because of its drunkenness.

THE DEFEAT OF PROHIBITION.

As was stated in the Gazette of Tuesday, the proposed prohibitory amendment to the Michigan state constitution has been defeated, the majority against it being somewhere between 5,000 and 7,000. The chairman of the state prohibition committee had done considerable figuring on 30,000 for the amendment, and even when adverse reports were coming in, he confidently predicted a large majority in favor of the measure. The more sober-minded, whose prejudices could not be twisted by exaggerated reports, carefully compiled the figures, and from the first saw that the measure was defeated.

It does not require a keen mind to interpret the result in Michigan. It is a triumph of the saloons. It means more courage, more audacity, and more power for the saloons in that state. It means that politics shall be even more than ever cursed by the influence which the saloon exerts in all the large cities. It means that it will be harder than ever for temperance reform to get a foothold in Michigan. It means, finally, that the temperance people of that state must take a fresh start in their effort to down the saloons.

What is one of the strange things connected with the vote in Michigan, is that the workingmen in large cities voted against the amendment. If there is a man on the face of the earth that needs sober influences, self-denial and temperance in all things, it is a workingman, and yet we find this numerous class looking arms with the rum power and marching to the polls to vote down prohibition! When men of this class will resist every effort to adopt the best standard of sobriety, then there is a crying out for some method which will reach the conscience, if there be any conscience to reach. Now that there is no hope for prohibition in any reasonable time in Michigan, suppose the legislature tries the high license tax, something that will tax half the saloons to death and make the other half pay the cost of municipal governments. Adopt the county local option system and cut off the drugstore saloons like those in Kansas, and when this much is done and the rural districts have practical prohibition, then the people will be the better fortified to overpower the saloons in the large cities.

A daring robbery was committed Monday in Chatham township, Sangamon county, Ill., the victim being John Workman, a farmer and land owner. Early in the afternoon a gentlemanly appearing man got off the Wabash train at Curran, and, securing a horse and buggy, drove to Workman's farm. He represented himself as a land purchaser, and asked Workman to show him over the farm. Workman got into the buggy, and the two men rode together over the broad acres, the stranger making the usual inquiries made by a prospective purchaser. Shortly after 2 o'clock an elegant two-horse rig came to the farm, bringing another stylish looking man, who claimed to be an agent for the sale of agricultural implements. The three men engaged in conversation for a while, and suddenly the strangers seized Workman, threw him to the ground and took from his pockets $6,000 in money. They succeeded in getting away before their victim could give the alarm.

The Marquette Mining Record estimates that the shipments of ore by the lakes from the various iron mines of the Superior region for the coming season will be as follows: The Marquette mines 2,000,000 tons; the Menominee mines, 1,000,000 tons; the Gogebic mines, 1,000,000 tons; and the Vermillion mines 400,000 tons. These amounts aggregate 4,400,000 tons, but the papers in the Gogebic region estimate that the product there will be 2,000,000 tons. The total shipments from these mines last year was 3,500,000 tons, and, with the increased product, it may be difficult to secure vessels for its transportation at rates which the mineral will bear.

The women clerks at Washington are gradually disappearing from the departments. The chiefs protest that they do not discriminate against them, but the fact is that there are so many of the "boys" who voted for Cleveland who want places that the administration does not know how it can afford to squander clerkships on non-voters. The clerks of both sexes complain that they are no longer treated with as much consideration as formerly, and the incursion of rich people into Washington is making their social position less agreeable than it was.

George Skidmore arrested at Chicago last Saturday for embezzling money and valuables to the amount of $5,000 from W. S. Lamare, London, England, shipped into a neat trap set by the officers who were taking him to New York where he had agreed to go to fight off extradition proceedings. When the officers reached Sarnia, Canada, on the Grand Trunk, with Skidmore, he was on British soil, where extradition papers were not necessary, and he was taken from the train and is now on his way to England.

Bishop Warren, of the Methodist Episcopal church does not believe in gentle preaching to rich sinners. He says there are some pastors who go at it in this style: "Brethren, you must repent, as it were, and be converted, in a measure, or you will be damned, to some extent."

Senator Stanford tries to keep his presence in New York from being known. As soon as it leaks out that the millionaire senator is in town he is besieged by scores of alms-askers, and it is only by keeping the smooth-tongued beggars at a distance that he has any peace of mind or ready cash in his pocket.

The Chicago Journal: The people of Chicago have declared very emphatically that they want no anarchism, nor even socialism, in theirs. In other words, they have decided that Chicago is not a "European colony."

GALLAGHER AND PINKERTON.

Make the Case Against Schwartz Still More Complete.

MORRIS, Ills., April 7.—Gallagher continued his evidence in the Schwartz-Watt trial Wednesday morning. Schwartz, while in jail, asked the witness if he could change $3,000 in large bills into small ones, and offered him 10 per cent out of it if he would do it. To explain where he got the money, Schwartz said that a friend of his had stolen a pile of money from a Jew on a train, and that he received the money. Witness asked Schwartz how he thought Nichols was killed, and the latter gave the following account of the robbery and murder: Two tramps went into Watt's car and tried to open the safe with iron bars. They failed in this, and went to Nicholls' car after the key. Nicholls tore off the masks they had on, and, he recognizing them, it was necessary to kill him.

On cross-examination Gallagher said he was serving a sentence for what "was technically known as a forgery," and admitted that at the time of his conviction there were pending about twenty indictments against him for ballot-box stuffing, changing tally-sheets, and forgery, which were all dismissed.

Gallagher's testimony was disappointing, as something much more startling was looked for, and it is the general belief that unless it is corroborated it would have been much better for the prosecution had Gallagher not been called.

The next important witness was William Pinkerton. He detailed at length the several interviews held with Watt and Schwartz in which the latter admitted several times having found a package containing about $5,000. Schwartz, in one interview, said he found the package at Davenport, while on another occasion he claimed that he found it at Joliet. Watt had received the package from Schwartz, the latter said, but was entirely ignorant of its contents. In a joint interview with Schwartz and Watt, the latter admitted the receipt of the package, but said he could not produce it, as it was out of his reach. Subsequently Watt denied having received the package, and refused to talk further about the matter. Mr. Pinkerton was rigidly cross-examined, after which court adjourned. The general opinion seems to be that Wednesday's testimony was favorable to Watt and unfavorable to Schwartz.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottle were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada.

THEIR INITIAL DECISION.

FIRST OFFICIAL RULING OF THE INTER-STATE BOARD.

Ninety Days' Grace Given Southern Railways by Suspension of the Long-and-Short-Haul Clause—The Row About Ticket Commissions—Thirty Kickers Against the Trunk Line Rule.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 7.—The inter-state commission passed most of Wednesday in private conference, deliberating on the application of the Southern Railway and Steamship association for a temporary suspension of the long and short haul clause of the law. Late in the afternoon the commissioners agreed on the terms of their answer, and at 7 o'clock in the evening their formal reply was completed, and is as follows:

"Application having been made to the inter-state commission, under section 4 of the act to regulate commerce, by the Southern Railway and Steamship association, an organization composed of twenty-nine railroad companies' lines and systems, and steamship lines operated in connection therewith, to charge less for longer than shorter distances in certain cases for the transportation of property from and to the principal cities of the north and south, between Boston and New Orleans, Norfolk and Memphis; and said common carriers having presented as a reason for granting their application the existence of water and other competition, claiming that the same can not be met except by maintaining the rates heretofore established to and from the said points, which are alleged to be too low to enable said common carriers to carry on business if applied to local intermediate points; and further claiming that great disturbance of business will occur if present traffic arrangements and rates are immediately changed; it is ordered:

"That the said application be and the same hereby is granted temporarily, subject to modification or revocation by the commission at any time upon hearing or otherwise; and the said common carriers are hereby temporarily relieved from the operation of the fourth section of said act to the extent specified in the recitals of this order, and for a period not greater than ninety days from this date; subject however to the restriction that none of the said common carriers, while this order remains in force, shall in any case charge or receive compensation for the transportation of property, between stations of their respective lines where more is charged for a shorter than for a longer haul, which shall be greater than the rates in force, and charged and received by said carriers respectively on the 31st day of March, 1887, schedules of which have been filed with the commission."

Printed copies of this order are to be posted at all stations of the roads interested.

The commission will convene at Atlanta, Ga., on the 26th day of April; Mobile, Ala., April 29; at New Orleans on May 2, and at Memphis, Tenn., on May 4, for the consideration of the subject matter of the petition of the southern companies, at which places and times they may appear and present application for relief. At the same places and times any persons in opposing any such application may also appear and be heard.

The commission has established permanent headquarters in the fifth story of The Baltimore Sun building, for which the government pays a rental of $3,600 a year.

COMMISSIONS ON TICKETS.

Thirty Railways Refuse to Adopt the Trunk Line View.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 7.—An official of the passenger department of the Pennsylvania railroad said Wednesday in explanation of the so-called boycott of the various railroad lines that refuse to accept the rule adopted by the trunk lines and Central Traffic association in regard to the payment of commissions to agents:

"The trunk lines, under their interpretation of the inter-state commerce law, are required to maintain strictly all rates published by them, and such rates can not be maintained if other roads over which they issue tickets are permitted to pay commissions to their agents. About thirty lines out of several hundred will continue to pay commissions, and the trunk lines and Central Traffic association have given them notice that until they stop paying commissions the trunk lines and Central Traffic association will not exchange business with them. This action must not be confused with any local passenger business."

The fifty coupon-book tickets, which it was said would be withdrawn on the Pennsylvania road, will be continued, and no changes in passenger fares or regulation are contemplated by the company.

Abolished Its Special Rates.

BOSTON, April 7.—A Portland special to The Herald says: Although not an inter-state road the Maine Central carries so much inter-state freight that its manager had issued a new schedule of rates. Special freight and passenger and freight rates have been abrogated, resulting in an advance of 50 per cent. in rates. At Bangor this new schedule causes great dissatisfaction. The merchants talk of combining to establish steamboat lines to Boston and New York, and a paper is now in circulation, the signers of which agree to transact no business with the Maine Central.

Explaining the Law to Them.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 7.—E. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania company's lines west of Pittsburg, met with his assistant general passenger agents Wednesday in this city for the purpose of explaining in detail the requirements of the inter-state commerce law. Assistant general passenger agents were present from St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Cleveland, and district passenger agents from Louisville, Terre Haute, Ft. Wayne, and Columbus.

A Mortgage for $3,000,000.

POINT PLEASANT, W. Va., April 7.—A mortgage from the Ohio River Railroad company to the Fidelity Trust company, of New York, to secure bonds for $3,000,000, payable in gold fifty years from April 1, 1887, with interest at 5 per cent., has been left for record in the clerk's office of this county. A portion of the money is to be used in building the extension from here to Huntington.

Shutting Up the Iron Factories.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 7.—The Lochiel Iron company's furnace, and furnace 2 of the Paxton iron works at Harrisburg have shut down, and it is said that the Cressonia nail works will also cease operations on account of freight rate changes resulting from the inter-state commerce law. This throws 750 men out of work.

Retaliating on the Boycott.

DENVER, Colo., April 7.—In retaliation for the action of the Pennsylvania, Erie, New York Central, and West Shore roads, in refusing to sell tickets via the Denver & Rio Grande, owing to the commissions fight, the latter company has ordered its agents to withdraw from sale all tickets over the roads named.

Inflammation of the Kidneys.

BAZAAR, Chase Co, Kansas, Feb. 10, '86.

I have been afflicted with chronic inflammation of the kidneys. I suffered so much pain that I could not lie on my back or lean back against a chair. My water also contained a chalky sediment. I tried many remedies, but could get no relief. I then took two Allcock's Plasters and put one over each kidney, making them meet on my backbone. These plasters, strange as it may seem, cured me in a week. All soreness was gone, and my urine was natural.

County Asylums to be Governed by a Board of Control.

Nothing of Importance Considered in the Assembly.

Several Bills Concurred in the Senate.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, Wis, April 7.—There was nothing of importance done in the house this morning.

The senate killed the bill appropriating $7,500 to A. Bellher, C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co. and others, for work in constructing the university building, and passed bills providing a change of trial in bastardy cases where prejudicial sentiment exists: authorizing judges of circuit courts to appoint three court commissioners in each county of their circuits during their vacation; providing for the construction of a high school building in Madison by authorizing the city to issue bonds and borrow $30,000 from the commissioner of public lands; allowing the common councils and village and town boards to regulate license of trade and markets within their limits; prohibiting any election clerk or other person who shall change any ballot for any person on election day; providing that holidays in school term shall not be counted as two days on teachers when school is taught on them; requiring governor and state board of charities and reform to inspect all county asylums, and when approved, the governor to appoint three, and the county board two, who shall constitute a board of control for such asylums. The joint resolution concurred in, appointing one senator and two assemblymen, for the investigation of the convict labor question.

The Government Taxidermist's Buffalo.

Mr. Hornaday, the government taxidermist, has a herd of queer looking buffaloes in his studio in the old armory building devoted to the fish commission. They are the hulks or insides on which the hides are to be stretched. Mr. Hornaday does not use the skeletons of the animals in mounting them, but makes up wooden ones. The whole herd, when done, will be mounted in the National museum, and the poor, old, moth eaten effigies now on exhibition will be burned. As soon as Mr. Hornaday finishes the bull buffalo, on which he will expend the greatest pains, it will be placed out in the Smithsonian grounds, where earth and background will resemble as much as possible the animal's native plains, and the taxidermist, rigged up in cowboy hat, leggings and hunting shirt, mounted on his broncho, cinched and loaded exactly as he was in Montana, will go through the pantomime of shooting the old beast again. During the performance several instantaneous photographs of the piece will be taken. This bull is the finest buffalo Mr. Hornaday secured while out on his official hunt. He was the last one seen, and his captor rode up alongside and had opportunity to study the noble animal for several minutes before shooting him. Mr. Hornaday even dismounted and sketched the old fellow. This has been of great advantage in stuffing and mounting him.—Washington Cor. New York Sun.

A Review of Troops on Bicycles.

Gen. Boulanger has just been holding a cavalry review of a novel kind. A score of corporals from the Joinville training school went through their evolutions before him a day or two ago mounted on magnificent—velocipedes. The composition of the little troop resembled that of the regular mounted force of the country; the bicyclists representing the light, the tricyclists the heavy cavalry.

The minister has decided to have a certain proportion of the men in the infantry regiments trained to the use of the velocipede, the utility of these machines for the transmission of orders and the interchange of communications between the different divisions of an army having been satisfactorily established in practice. Their employment will, for one thing, leave all the horses of the force available for the work in which their services are indispensable. The bicycle has been found to give better results on the whole than the tricycle, and it is probable that some form of the two wheeled machine will be definitely adopted for general use.—St. James' Gazette.

A Memento of Beecher.

No more curious memento of Beecher exists than that owned by Edison, the inventor of the phonograph. That instrument for impressing on a soft metal sheet the utterances of the human voice, and then emitting it again by the turning of a crank, could never be put to any very valuable use, and Edison has only gained from it a few thousand dollars in royalties from exhibitors. But he utilized it to make a collection of famous voices. Since he became famous his visitors have included hundreds of celebrities. Instead of asking them for their autographs or photographs he has in two or three hundred instances requested them to speak a few sentences into a phonograph. He has kept the plates in a cabinet, and occasionally he runs some of them through the machine, which sends out the words exactly as uttered. Edison is probably the only man who can revive the silenced voice of the great preacher.—New York Cor. Chicago Herald.

UNVEILING OF A STATUE TO ALBERT SYDNEY JOHNSTON.

New Orleans Quits Work for a Day to Attend the Services—Grand Army Veterans Join the Procession, and Mingle the Blue with the Gray—Jeff Davis Responds to Persistent Calls.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—The tomb of the Confederate association of the Army of the Tennessee at Metairie cemetery was crowned Wednesday by an equestrian statue of Gen. Albert Sydney Johnston, the first commander of that division of the rebel army. The day was a perfect one and the ceremonies were impressive and interesting and attended by a vast concourse of Confederate veterans and other citizens. The association of the Army of the Tennessee was formed soon after the war to keep alive the memories of their struggle and to provide for helpless comrades. During the yellow fever epidemic of 1878 so many veterans died that it was decided to erect a tomb in which all members should be buried until their friends should remove their remains. A sufficient sum was soon raised and a handsome vault was constructed. It was then decided to crown the structure with a statue of Jefferson Davis, and Mrs. Dorsey, who afterward bequeathed Beauvoir to the Confederate chieftain, agreed to bear the expenses. When the purpose of the association was made known to Mr. Davis, however, he refused to sit, and later advised that an equestrian statue of Gen. Johnston be substituted. This suggestion was wildly applauded, and the association then and there pledged itself to Mr. Davis' recommendation. Alexander Doyle, the artist, agreed to furnish a suitable monument for $12,000. This sum was speedily raised by subscription and other means, and Wednesday's ceremony was the result.

At noon the military and civic organizations began to form at Lafayette square. Conspicuous in the ranks was a large delegation of members of Joseph A. Mower post, G. A. R., who had come out to assist the veteran Confederates.

Little Rose Robinson, a great grand-daughter of Gen. Johnston, unveiled the statue, while the veterans of the Washington artillery, who served a battery of guns at Shiloh, fired a salute of thirty-eight guns. Senator Randall L. Gibson was the orator of the day. He reviewed the character of Gen. Johnston and paid a high tribute to his military genius. A poem by Mrs. Kate Sherwood, of Toledo, Ohio, followed, and the ceremonies were closed with a benediction by Comrade Rt. Rev. J. N. Galleher, bishop of Louisiana. The ceremonies were interspersed throughout with music. Among popular airs were "Dixie" and "Bonnie Blue Flag."

Among the distinguished persons present were: Hon. Jefferson Davis and wife, Miss Varina Davis, Mrs. A. S. Johnston (widow of Gen. Johnston), Col. William Preston Johnston (his son), and a large number of his descendants.

During the ceremonies Mr. Davis was called for and finally was prevailed upon to speak. He said he knew Johnston better than he ever knew any other man as boy, collegian, and soldier. He was as good as great, and great as humanity could command. Continuing the speaker said: "True to his characteristics, he saw the efforts of a few states to deprive the minority of all they held as their sacred rights, and came through a trackless desert to offer his sword to the minority, which were struggling for their rights." This was the only political allusion made.

The battle of Shiloh, said the speaker, was the only one in history fought out just as intended. Gen. Johnston had sent him a plan of the battle and he knew it was executed to the letter. After paying a tribute to the military genius of Johnston, the speaker attempted to close, but the crowd yelled: "Go on; you can't detain us; we will stay here all night." Mr. Davis spoke a few minutes longer, saying in conclusion: "Let the new south turn back to the virtue of the old south and see in the monument something upon which their sons would build their character."

The day was a public holiday and the whole city almost turned out en masse to witness the ceremonies.

A WOMAN VINDICATES HERSELF

By Shooting an Alleged Traducer Dead on the Street.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 7.—Bertha Hegener, the 22-year-old wife of John Hegener, proprietor of a barber shop in this city, shot and killed John Murphy, an employe of her husband, at the corner of Third and Sibley streets, St. Paul, Wednesday night. Mrs. Hegener alleges that Murphy had been making slanderous remarks affecting her character, and, after consultation with her husband, she decided to take the law in her own hands. Accordingly she went to St. Paul, and seeing Murphy, walked up behind him, placed the pistol to the back of head, and fired. Murphy lived but a few hours, but was unable to make a statement. Mr. Hegener, hearing the news, came to St. Paul and was immediately placed under arrest.

Captured by Irishmen.

GLASGOW, April 7.—A Liberal-Unionist meeting was held at Dundee Wednesday night which terminated in uproar and confusion. After several speakers had addressed the meeting the chair proposed a vote of thanks to them, which motion the audience promptly rejected with a thundering shout of "No." A large part of the audience was composed of Irishmen, who attempted to pass a resolution denouncing and protesting against coercion, but before they could obtain the sense of the meeting the speaker indignantly left the hall and the meeting broke up in disorder amid deafening cheers for Gladstone and home rule.

Liberal Gift to Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 7.—Provision has been made through the generosity of Hon. S. B. Crittenden, of Brooklyn, N. Y., for the immediate erection on the Yale university grounds of a new library building. The new edifice will be stone and fire-proof, and will cost $100,000. The architect is Mr J. Cleveland Cady, of New York.

Death of Ex-Congressman Aiken.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 7.—Advices received here Wednesday report that D. Wyatt Aiken, late representative in congress, died at his home in Cokesbury, S. C., Wednesday morning.

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable discovery of Mr. J. E. Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of Consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery, he was well and had gained in flesh thirty-six pounds. Trial bottles at this Great Discovery for Consumption free at Frank Sherer & Co.

Overcoats at cost for the next 30 days at T. J. Zieglor's.

"Oh! if I had only known that in time." Known what? "Known that a simple cold in the head may develop into Catarrh." Well, it isn't too late, for Ely's Cream Balm will cure catarrh even after the sufferer's life has become a burden to him, and be a nuisance to his friends. It is the only radical and thoroughly scientific catarrh cure. Not a snuff. Not a liquid. Price fifty cents.

AN INQUISITIVE ADMIRAL.

He Raises an Uproar at a British Liberal Meeting.

LONDON, April 7.—A tremendous but short-lived uproar was caused at the meeting of the council of the Liberal federation Wednesday by the introduction of a motion by Sir James Kitson, president of the council, that the federation protest against the coercion bill.

Admiral Maxse roused an uproar by asking whether the crimes bill was not really an anti-coercion measure aimed to suppress the shameful coercion of the National league. He asked which form of coercion English Liberals should support. If English home rulers were consistent about governing Ireland according to Irish ideas they were bound to let the country go, conceding that absolute independence which the Nationalists wanted.

An attempt was made to hiss down the speaker, but the chairman ruled that the speaker was in order.

Continuing, the speaker said that this pursuit of the abstract principle of nationalism would result in the abdication of England's national responsibilities, and cause their country to become weak and insignificant and liable to fall an easy prey to any adjoining nation that cultivated strength and consolidation while England cultivated dissolution and decay. The speaker's concluding words were drowned with noise.

Considerable loud talk was indulged in, but the motion was finally carried, together with a resolution of thanks to Mr. Gladstone.

Gladstone Says He Can Wait.

LONDON, April 7.—At a Liberal meeting in Chelsea Wednesday evening a letter my from Mr. Gladstone was read, in which the ex-premier alluded to the recent criticism of his adversaries upon his position in relation to the Irish question. In refuting these allegations Mr. Gladstone says: "A little reserve on part will help to soon undeceive these critics and enable them to profit more effectually by the teaching they are now receiving the teaching of events."

How About Alsace-Lorraine.

BERLIN, April 7.—The Vossische Zeitung says the passage of the coercion bill by the English parliament must forever shatter the last remnants of friendship between the passers of the bill and those who are subjected to the severity of its terms.

A COWARDLY ASSASSIN.

He Fires a Rifle-Ball at a Minister in the Pulpit—His Identity Unknown.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 7.—A most cowardly attempt to assassinate the Rev. W. F. Lowry, pastor of Brown's African Methodist Episcopal chapel, corner of Boyle and Hemlock streets, Allegheny City, was made on last Sunday night. While the reverend gentleman was in the midst of his discourse a rifle-ball, evidently aimed at Mr. Lowry's head, crashed through a window at the side of the pulpit, passed but an inch or two from his head, and imbedded itself in the opposite wall. Had not the leaden messenger struck against the sash and deviated from its course the minister would undoubtedly have been either killed or seriously wounded. A portion of the audience, hearing the shot and noticing the result, hastily left the building, but were unable to make any discoveries. The minister continued his speaking to the end of the sermon. The only possible place from which the bullet could have been fired was the roof of a building on the opposite side of the alley.

For some time there has been a dispute in the society over the possession of a piece of property, and the church won the fight. Two members, Bruce and Kinney, were beaten in the contest, and Kinney was absent for the first time from service Sunday. Bruce had entirely ceased attending. Mr. Lowry refuses to believe that either of these men is the would-be assassin.

WHOSE STOLEN BOY IS THIS?

WASHINGTON CITY, April 7.—Postmaster General Vilas has heard from Charley Ross, or at least a lost boy. Within a day or two he received the following letter, postmarked Mount Pisgah, Ind., April 2, 1887, and by giving the letter to the press he proposes to advertise the writer's inquiries as widely as possible. The lost boy's letter reads:

MR. POSTMASTER GENERAL IN WASHINGTON: What will you charge me to advertise my name and put it in the papers and send it into every P O in the United States, and I would like to have you send the first advertisement out to Boston Masschusett, for that is the place where I was born and I was shipt from and was brot out west to a town call Sturgis Mich by a man of the name F H Grayham and was stold, and I dont no anything bout my folks, and I would like to have you find them for me if you can. Rite soon and let me no what you will charge me for your trouble in finding any of them, and my brothers name to, Frankie Welch. Advertise his name to in the papers. Direct, GEORGE WELCH, Mt. Pisgah, Ind.

Looking Favorable for Arensdorf.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, April 7.—The defense in the Haddock murder case, continued Wednesday to present evidence impeaching the testimony of the witnesses for the prosecution. Three witnesses declared that the reputations of "Bismarck" and Leavitt were very bad. These witnesses were all saloon-keepers. J. C. Hart said he was one of the party that walked from Junk's saloon to where the murder was committed, and Arensdorf was not with them at all; nor was Arensdorf the man who fired the shot.

The next witness was Paul Leader, who is a defendant in the case. He believed the murder was committed by Leavitt, as the assassin wore a rubber coat and light-colored trousers. Leader told his story in a straightforward manner and was not in the least confused by cross-examination. Mr. Leader's business standing in the community is better than that of any witness who has thus far been upon the stand, and his evidence created a profound impression.

Whereabouts of Watson's Wife.

OMAHA, Neb., April 7.—The city attorney and city marshal of Sterling, Ills., arrived here Wednesday in search of Lillian Snavely-Watson, whose mysterious separation from her husband, C. L. Watson, and probable death by a railroad accident at Lostonia, Ohio, was widely heralded. The officials traced Mrs. Watson to this city and learned that she left here a week ago for Portland, Ore., in company with a man named Davidson, an old lover. They will not follow the couple any further.

Still Hoping for the Eagle's Safety.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., April 7.—The steamer Hector has arrived here with 1,000 seals. She did not see anything of the steamer Eagle. The report that the Hector passed through a lot of wreck stuff is not true, and people here are beginning to hope that the Eagle may after all be safe.

A Scholar Commits Suicide.

VIENNA, April 7.—Dr. Morgenstern, the eminent Hebrew scholar, has committed suicide.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 50,000 dozen bottle were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was eported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all druggists and dealers, in the United States and Canada.

CRASH OF FREIGHT TRAINS.

Two Women and the Conductor Severely Injured.

BEDFORD, Ind., April 7.—At about noon Wednesday there was a terrible accident about four miles north of this place, on the Louisville, New Albany & Chicago railway. A portion of a local freight train was left on the main track and while it stood there a through freight train, running thirty miles an hour, ran into it, demolishing the caboose and eight or ten cars. There were three women and Conductor Early in the caboose, and they all got out before the crash, but Mrs. Noah Pritchett, of Guthrie, was caught by the tender as it rolled down the embankment and confined under it for an hour. Her face was fearfully mangled and her hand so badly injured that the physicians amputated it.

Conductor Early was struck with one of the flying timbers of the caboose and was knocked insensible and remained so all day. The physicians fear that his spine is broken.

Mrs. Ab Carder, of Guthrie, was fearfully bruised about the body, and is in a very dangerous condition.

Shot Himself for Very Shame.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 7.—Abraham L. Bowser, who was in the employ of Ira W. Hays, publisher of The Globe newspaper and proprietor of a book store, shot himself Tuesday night, after the discovery was made that he was a thief.

The evidence adduced at the inquest shows that the money till in Hays' store was being systematically robbed at night. Mrs. Hays and Walter Wolf secreted themselves Tuesday night in the store to watch for the thief. About 11 o'clock they heard one of the windows being raised, and some one tip-toed along to the money drawer. Hays then jumped upon the counter and lit the gas. When he was jumping to the floor again, Bowser fired a shot—not at Hays but into his own head. He died instantly. The dead man leaves a wife and three children.

HOW THE MALAKOFF WAS TAKEN.

Diplomatic Spying—The Story of a Dispatch That Brought $12,000.

Diplomatic espionage rendered a great service to the Second Empire in 1855 by enabling the French to get into Sebastopol. The credit for the fall of that stronghold was due, it has just transpired, to the late M. de Moustier, who was in the year above mentioned at the head of the French embassy at Berlin. At that time Col. von Munster was military attache of Prussia at St. Petersburg, and in high favor at court. The wife of the Czar Nicholas was a princess of Prussia, and was fondly attached to her native land. All the representatives of her brother were treated by her with a kindness verging on familiarity. The councils of war, when the siege of Sebastopol was going on, used to be held in her sitting room. Col. von Munster was given the minutes of them. No detail of the campaign which the military authorities at St. Petersburg could give him was withheld. He sent confidential reports of the information so obtained to Berlin for the king's sole perusal.

Frederick William kept them a secret from every one but Gerlach—a kind of seer belonging to the feudal party, who regarded Manteuffel as an apostate because he advised the king to keep on good terms with Napoleon III., and who discovered, when Queen Victoria went on a visit to St. Cloud, that she was the scarlet lady of the Apocalypse. Manteuffel was furiously jealous of the royal favor in which Gerlach stood, and took means to intercept the Munster correspondence so as to read it and have it copied. In one of these letters there was a dispatch from Todleben informing the czar of the weakness of the Malakoff, which could not hold out against a strong assault.

Now, Manteuffel's copying clerk was in the pay of De Moustier, and, when they were thinking at the Tuileries of ordering the siege of Sebastopol to be raised, a copy of Todleben's dispatch was sold to the French embassy for 60,000 francs. Orders were sent to Pelissier to attack the Malakoff. He, not wanting to be pestered by his incompetent emperor and the gang about him with military instructions, ordered the telegraph wires to be cut. Marshal Vaillant was then packed off to the Crimea with the secret paper in his pocket. It was a revelation to Pelissier, and all that remained was to get the English to attack the Redan while the French were trying to storm the Malakoff. The general won a ducal title, a big grant of money and a pension, and became such an important personage that the empress gave to him the hand of her beautiful cousin, who was presented by her imperial majesty with a suitable dowry and trousseau of regal magnificence.—Paris Cor. London Truth.

New York's Chinese Reporter.

The bright, little, weazen faced, reformed heathen, Wong Chin Foo, who picks up a good living acting as interpreter in the courts when his countrymen are involved, and who is a regular contributor to the magazines and newspapers, is anxious to get back to the Flowery Kingdom. He expects to return to Hong Chow next autumn. Wong is an inveterate fantan player, and, like most Bohemians, does not object to a good glass of wine. His favorite tipple is gin, when left to his own resources. His last call at our office was to leave a manuscript setting forth the fact that the Chinamen in this city use peanut oil in the frying of chicken, oysters, etc. According to Foo this oil is more aromatic than lard and much more palatable. He estimates that not less than 50,000 gallons of this peanut oil are imported to this country annually and consumed by his æsthetic countrymen. It is in the collation of abstruse statistics that the Mongolian reporter excels.—New York World.

Discovered in a Dream.

Two weeks ago Johnny Murphy, a lad of Vincennes, Ind., disappeared, and no trace of him could be found. Uncle Joe Roseman thought that the boy was drowned and visited the Wabash daily. On Saturday night he dreamed that he stood by the river and saw a ripple that marked where the body lay. The dream troubled him, and he went to that spot on the bank of the river where he had stood in his dream, and sure enough there was the ripple in the shallow stream. He called a boatman to row him out, and reaching below the water grasped something, and told the man to row to shore. He had grasped the foot of the drowned boy. This is said to be the fifth body mysteriously missing that Uncle Joe has located.—New York Sun.

War on the Ground Hog.

A Pennsylvania farmer near Phoenixville is waging a successful war on the ground hog, which, as every farmer knows, does much damage to meadows. His method is to fill a large beer or porter bottle with powder, letting a fuse run through the cork. He then places the bottle in the ground hog's hole, with the fuse projecting outside, taking care to pack the earth tightly at the mouth of the hole and close up firmly all other holes leading to the home of the doomed animal. Then the fuse is fired, and the result is that all the ground hogs in the hole are killed by the concussion.

Beware of imitations of Dr. Jones' Red Clover Tonic. The genuine is sold by Prentice & Evenson and promptly cures dyspepsia, costiveness, bad breath, piles, pimples, ague and malaria diseases, poor appetite, low spirits headache, or diseases of the kidneys, stomach and liver. A PROHIBITION PROTEST

GOES INTO THE BALLOT BOXES IN RHODE ISLAND,

Resulting in the Election of the Whole Democratic Ticket for State Officers—Legislature Still Republican by Reduced Majority—Echoes of the Recent State and Municipal Contests.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 7.—Seldom was there such a lively interest manifested in an election as that which was manifested in this city and throughout the state Wednesday.

Full reports from all wards of the city show that Davis, Democrat, for governor, has been elected by a majority of 2,000. It is thought from returns thus far received from the various towns that Davis will have at least 2,000 majority in the whole state. Some towns are yet to be heard from, but the vote is so close that it will probably not reduce Davis' majority. At a late hour Wednesday night, indications were that the entire Democratic general ticket has been elected.

The Democrats were jubilant in this city, and large crowds thronged the newspaper, telegraph and other down-town offices.

LATER.—Davis' majority in the state will probably reach 1,000. This will also be about the majority of the rest of the Democratic ticket, including attorney general. The woman suffrage amendment was defeated by a large majority.

The legislature, as far as returns have been received, will stand: House—27 Republicans, 20 Democrats. Senate—18 Republicans, 10 Democrats. Four cities or towns are yet to be heard from.

The cause of the result is the revolt of the Prohibitionists against the method of execution of the prohibitory law adopted last year. The chief constable is the official who is responsible for its enforcement, and Brayton was elected to that place by the legislature—and most of those who voted for him have been left at home this time. A large section of the Prohibitionists believed that the legislature selected Brayton because they believed he would not enforce the law, and, though he claims to have done all in his power, the fact that he has not entirely put an end to dram-selling and dram-drinking has been the great campaign cry of the opposition.

The Result in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 7.—At 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the last returns from the county towns were received. The county gave the judicial ticket a majority of 2,800 votes, which elects Noyes and Johnson (fusion) circuit and superior judges respectively, by a majority of 1,500 votes. The Labor party elected four and the fusion seven aldermen. The Labor party ran ahead in the city, but the county towns wiped out their majority, and the fusionists are victorious.

Prohibition Surely Defeated.

DETROIT, April 7.—Specials to The Evening Journal indicate that the prohibition amendment is surely defeated by about 5,000. Cogebic county, in the upper peninsula, which had not been included in The Journal's earlier estimates, gives 2,000 majority against the amendment. The latest returns from the southern part of the state favor prohibition, but the adverse vote in the upper peninsula more than overcomes this.

Important If Not a Canard.

NEW YORK, April 7.—A Washington special to The Post says: "A friend of Murat Halstead in this city is authority for the statement that Mr. Halstead lately received from Whitelaw Reid a letter asserting that the time had come for Mr. Blaine to retire from the Republican race for the presidency, and for all hands to turn in and nominate John Sherman."

Democratic Victory at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 7.—Tuesday's election was a victory for the Democrats, who elected ten aldermen to the Republicans' eleven. The Democrats already have nine to the Republicans' six, so the new council stands nineteen Democrats to seventeen Republicans. For the first time in years the Democrats are in power.

A Pennsylvania Solon Hung in Effigy.

BRADFORD, Pa., April 7.—Representative Johnson was hung in effigy on the public square Wednesday evening. On the figure were pinned offensive placards. The Judge did not vote to suspend the rules to bring up the Billingsly bill Tuesday and some of his displeased constituents took this method of revenge.

Thoebe Abandons the Contest.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 7.—Nathaniel T. Crutchfield, clerk at the speaker's table, arrived Tuesday from Kentucky. He says Thoebe has abandoned the contest for Carlisle's seat in the Sixth district.

Work in the Wisconsin Capitol.

MADISON, Wis., April 7.—In the assembly Wednesday morning senate bills were concurred in, making counties and municipalities liable for damages for injuries to person or property during riots; making wearing Grand Army badges by persons not entitled to wear them a punishable offense, and fixing the maximum penalty for keeping a house of ill-fame or leasing premises for immoral purposes at three years' imprisonment. Bills were killed taxing express companies 4 per cent. on their gross earnings, and appropriating $50,000 with which to indemnify persons for injuries received in the capitol collapse in 1883. The assembly refused to adopt a resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution submitting the prohibition question to the people. In the senate a bill was introduced to give each woman made a widow by the capitol collapse $2,000, and for suitable indemnification of all persons injured therein. A senate committee reported in favor of final adjournment on April 15.

One of Our Inalienable Rights.

RICHMOND, Va., April 7.—In the habeas corpus case of William P. Royall, who was prosecuted, tried and convicted here a few weeks ago for bringing suit in the United States circuit court against a grand jury which had indicted him for barratry, Judge Bond Wednesday delivered a written opinion, and entered an order discharging the prisoner from custody. The judge said an American citizen had the right to sue anybody he pleased.

Failed for Half a Million.

PHILADELPHIA, April 7.—Henry Bower & Son, manufacturing chemists, have failed, with liabilities amounting to probably $500,000. The firm is one of the oldest in the trade, having been established in 1857. The cause of the failure is said to be owing to the firm having large amounts of money tied up in real estate and being pushed on judgments obtained against them. The assets are not known.

Gang of Boy Burglars Broken Up.

WALTHAM, Mass., April 7.—A gang of burglars which has been operating along the Fitchburg railroad has been broken up by the arrest of three leading members. They are boys and led by Burt Stickney, only 16 years old.

Valuable Charts.

One of the most valuable contributions to science now in course of preparation is a series of charts showing the surface temperature of the Atlantic coast waters from the eastern coast of Maine to the extreme southerly coast of Florida. This work is being prosecuted by the United States Fish commission, with the aid of the lighthouse board and the signal service. The observations made by them have a most important bearing on the study of the migration of the mackerel, menhaden, shad and other migratory fishes, and will be of great practical value.—Boston Herald.

George Washington's Suit.

Mr. Allen Thorndike Rice, of The North American Review, has become the owner of the silk coat, waistcoat and knee trousers, and the gold knee and shoe buckles which George Washington wore when he took the inaugural oath of first president of the United States. The price is supposed to have been about $500.—Harper's Bazar.

Easily Picked Up.

One of the several gamecocks that were being shipped to Portland, Ore., escaped from the coop and the baggage car, and all the efforts of the train hands to catch it were unavailing until a night brakeman released another cock. In a moment the two had engaged in battle, and were easily picked up.—Chicago Herald.

The Image on the Bowls.

Gen. Boulanger must be a dreadful fellow in the eyes of German officials. The police of Metz have just seized all the clay pipes they could find in that town with his revengeful image on their bowls. The pipes were not broken, however, and it is more than probable that the whole proceeding will end in smoke.

One Way to Kill Rats.

The Birmingham, Conn., electric light works were overrun with rats until the superintendent had a happy thought. To wires attached to dynamos he fastened bits of meat and scattered them about. The rats smelled the meat, nibbled, and—good by, rats.—New York Sun.

UTTERLY DISCOURAGED

—presses the feeling of many victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and nervous or sick headache. Having tried numberless so-called remedies, and physicians of all schools, without relief, there seems to be no hope. Many such have as a last resort tried Athlophoros, and to their surprise and joy have found that it was a safe, sure and quick cure. Athlophoros is not an experiment; thousands have been cured by its use and they testify as to its value.

William Blair, train dispatcher of the D. G. H. & M. railroad, Detroit, Mich., says: "For about fifteen years I have been almost a constant sufferer from neuralgia, many times unfitting me for my business duties as well as making life a burden. The strain on my nerves was so great that I nearly lost the use of one of my eyes. I was suffering very much, and had never succeeded in getting anything that would give me but temporary relief, and that was of very short duration. The first bottle of Athlophoros made a very decided change, in fact I had some relief from a few doses. I probably have used a dozen bottles, and it is six months since I had a severe attack. I keep the medicine on hand all the time; I have some at my office and some at home, so that in case I should need it I am well prepared. I have had times during my use of this medicine that my neuralgia would come on during my business hours, and by having the medicine close at hand a dose or two would drive the neuralgia away. For neuralgia Athlophoros is undoubtedly the best medicine, and I think I ought to know, as I have during the many years that I have suffered had occasion to try about every thing in the line of medicines for this complaint."

Every druggist should keep Athlophoros and Athlophoros Pills, but where they cannot be bought of the druggist the Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall St., New York, will send either (carriage paid) on receipt of regular price, which is $1.00 per bottle for Athlophoros and 50c. for Pills.

For liver and kidney diseases, dyspepsia, indigestion, weakness, nervous debility, diseases of women, constipation, headache, impure blood, &c., Athlophoros Pills are unequaled. 7

Have We No National Air?

The music of the "Star Spangled Banner" was adapted, with slight alterations, from a melody by Dr. Arne (1710-1778), who is known as the composer of "Rule Britannia," "Where the Bee Sucks" (in Shakespeare's "Tempest"), and of "Artaxerxes" and several other operas long since forgotten. "Yankee Doodle" is also an English song, dating back to the days of Charles II., when it was known as "Lucy Lockett." "The Red, White and Blue" is sung all over England, and is probably also of British origin. With "Home, Sweet Home," by Sir Henry Bishop, and "America," by Dr. John Bull, the question arises, Have we any national air which is distinctively American?—New York Sun.

A Wise Crow.

Engineer Jack Ellis, of Williamsport, Pa., has a very large and wise crow. He is two feet long from the tip of his beak to the tip of his tail feathers, and is a scientific thief. A shepherd dog, chained to a kennel in the yard, is one of the worst victims. Whenever he sees the dog gnawing a bone, he sneaks up behind him and grabs him by the tail; the sudden attack causes the dog to quickly wheel about to find out what's there, but the crow holds on, and goes around with the tail to where the coveted bone is, snatches it up, and in an instant is out of the reach of the angry animal.—New York Sun.

Dog and Diamonds.

A well known Wall street broker is a famous dog fancier and, withal, a good story teller. He owns a handsome mastiff known and petted by all the school children in the neighborhood. One day last week the broker received a telegram at his office running thus: "Dog has swallowed diamond rings. What shall we do?" The reply that he sent was brief, but to the point: "Tie up the dog." The valuable rings were recovered and the dog is now convalescent. It appears that his wife laid two of her rings on a chair and the dog immediately made a lunch of them.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of all sufferers in advertized remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery, rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvula so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional. Instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never-failing.

BRIEFLETS.

—To-morrow will be Good Friday.

—Weather predictions are fair and warmer.

—N. P. Bump, who was dangerously ill is reported as slightly stronger.

—When even street car horses run away the season must be one of great activity.

—We are under obligations to Hon. Alex. Graham for late files of Salt Lake papers.

—A buggy belonging to John Cummings, of Bradford, was wrecked on East Milwaukee street this morning.

—The new city officers will take possession of their respective offices on the third Tuesday of April, being April 19th.

—Funeral services over the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schneider, of Shopiere, were held to-day, the interment being at Oak Hill.

—Galbraith Bros. shipped a pony to St. Paul last night by the American Express. Those toboggan teams must have been great favorites.

—Catherine Worthington has been granted a divorce from James P. Worthington. Judge Bennett's decision was rendered late yesterday afternoon.

—Superintendent Charles Atwood, of the Street Railway line, has a force of twenty-five or thirty men at work on the cemetery extension of the track.

—There were over forty in attendance at the Young Woman's meeting last night, and a very interesting meeting. The subject for conversation next Wednesday evening is "Diet."

—C. W. Ferguson, of the first ward, is putting in a stock of fancy groceries at No. 11, North Main street. The store will be run in connection with Mrs. Gray's restaurant.

—One young lady, this morning, sold twelve tickets to the Girls' Social Club theatricals within an hour. If that record is kept up the "Standing Room Only" sign will be hung out very soon.

—Janesville young men are anxious to organize a base ball team. There is only one drawback. Whenever they get one well on its feet Evansville or Hanover steps in and hammers the shape all out of it.

—The total vote on mayor in Madison on Tuesday was 1,876, and for city treasurer, 1,935. In Janesville the total vote for mayor was 2,046, and for city clerk 2,029. Another indication that Janesville is a much larger city than Madison.

—Third ward people complain loudly about the pile of bricks that disfigures Bluff street. During the day teams cannot pass from Milwaukee street to the Park house without fear of an accident. The officers have neglected to take any steps in the matter, although asked to do so several times.

—Between forty and fifty people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stevens last evening and listened to a well rendered programme of literary exercises by the Mission Circle, after which the guest were served with a bounteous supply of choice refreshments. The gathering was a most pleasant social success.

—Last evening a whiffletree on one of the street cars broke and the horse made a trip for himself. John O'Grady, who clung to the reins, went headlong over the dash board, and then decided to let go. The horse kept right on down street, turning out at every switch, until he reached the barn, where they put on another whiffletree and started him back after the car.

—About thirty friends helped O. B. Evans, of the first ward, to celebrate his fortieth birthday last evening. The affair was a decidedly pleasant one, and included a surprise to Mr. Evans in the shape of the presentation of Irving's works, very handsomely bound. Not until twelve o'clock did the party break up, for a tempting supper was served and numerous social diversions made the time pass very swiftly.

—The report of Superintendent Swineford's resignation, printed in the Gazette several weeks ago, has been confirmed by an order from headquarters. W. A. Scott has been promoted to fill the vacancy. Mr. Swineford's resignation is supposed to be the result of the long-standing grievances which employe's have complained, growing out of what they considered as unwarranted and tyrannical attempts to enforce an unreasonable temperance rule.

—Young Shepherd, who pulled a revolver on E. J. Walton yesterday is in jail for fifteen days. Mr. and Mrs. Walton left town last night, having made up their quarrel. While in the city they kept things pretty thoroughly stirred up. Mrs Walton accused a second ward woman of leading Mr. Walton into evil ways, and backed her charges by a liberal use of muscle. Out of this grew the revolver episode of yesterday and it was not until one of the party was in jail that the others realized how badly they had been mistaken.

—Mr. A. A. Hills and wife are stopping in the city. Mr. Hills is representing P. F. Collier, of N. Y., one of the largest and most reliable publishers of America. Mr. Hill will call at the residences and places of business and give the people a chance to get Dicken's, Sir Walter Scott's, Waverly Novels, Washington Irving, and other standard and first class works on very easy terms. He has had many year's experience on the road and aims to conduct himself like a gentleman. Honesty and square dealing is his motto.

—In giving the result of Tuesday's election in last evening's Gazette, a mistake was made in giving the democrats two of the five constables elected in this city. When the item was written we had a copy of the Recorder in sight, having the name of the successful candidate for constable in the second ward prominently displayed on the democratic ticket in that ward, and having been present at the democratic caucus in the second, hearing that old democratic war horse—Ed. Connell—make a motion for the unanimous nomination of the same candidate, we took it for a fact that the democracy had gained a victory. The Recorder will please accept this as our apology for the blunder, and we will now say that the democrats elected one of the five constables in the city, and it wasn't much of a day for constables either.

AT POPE'S SPRINGS.

People That Will Camp There This Summer.

Everyone that stopped at Pope's Springs last summer went away delighted The scenery was fine, the fishing good and the spring water unrivaled. Nothing seemed lacking and when the season closed all were anxious to return as soon as possible.

It now seems likely that this will be done. Mrs. O. C. Ford has rented a part of the grounds and several cottages will soon be built, The Ford cottage which is to be very conveniently arranged will be finished within two weeks. That of G. H. Davis will not be in order until somewhat later. There are several others but the owners' names have not yet beet made public.

Locations for tents on the grounds may be rented from Mrs. Ford at reasonable prices. The arrangements will be made during the first week in June.

Captain Buchholz has been hired to make two trips a day with his steamer, one at eight o'clock in the morning and another at six in the evening. He has agreed to allow no parties on the grounds that are in the least objectionable and will make the time spent at the springs very pleasant, so far as it lies in his power.

Quite a number of improvements are to be made in the grounds. For one thing a garden will be laid out to furnish campers with fresh vegetables. The dancing hall will be refitted and parties will be given every two weeks to which people from the city will be invited. A lunch room will be opened and refreshments served at all hours. There is also likely to be telephone connection between the camp and the city.

Janesville's summer resort seems to have very flattering prospects. The enterprise is in good hands and is likely to be successful.

COMING EVENTS.

—Calico parties have been quite "the thing" this season and that of the Y. M. Q. C. is likely to be no exception.

—Janesville Chapter No. 5, Royal Arch Masons, assemble in regular semi-monthly convocation this evening at Masonic hall.

—The musicale to be given by Professors Dahl and Layton to-morrow night night is likely to be a very pleasant affair.

—The Trinity church parish will celebrate the early morning Easter service at 6 o'clock instead of 7:30 as previously announced.

—The Concordia society will celebrate the anniversary of the society's organization next Monday evening by giving a private dancing party at Concordia hall.

—With the Gilmore concert, Sherwood's recent visit and frequent rehearsals of the brass band just organized in Valentines telegraph school, a boom in musical circles may well be expected.

—Next Wednesday evening the Woman's Relief Corps will give an entertainment at Post Hall. There will also be a bazaar for the sale of articles of fancy work.

—A special meeting of the common council will be held this evening. The meeting is called by President Croft for the purpose of considering matters that have been on the calender for six weeks or more. The vote cast for municipal officers will probably be canvassed at this meeting.

—As early as eight o'clock this morning, quite a crowd had assembled at Prentice & Evenson's, awaiting the hour announced for the sale of reserved seats for "Sheep in Wolf's Clothing and Meg's Diversion." Within twenty minutes after nine o'clock, when the sale commenced, over 200 seats had been sold. While all of the opera house seats are desirable and good, it behooves those intending to patronize the entertainment to secure their seats at once. Prentice & Evenson state that the opening sale has been by far the largest since the opening of the new opera house.

SPORTING ITEMS.

Anson Dead Sure of Winning All Coming Events.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—The Chicago White Stockings arrived at the Lindell Wednesday in fine form and splendid trim, to play the second series of games with the Browns. They were warmly received by both the Browns and Indianapolis Maroons, and spent the afternoon watching the game between those two clubs. Capt. Anson said: "We are going to win this series as sure as I stand here, and you can bet your bottom dollar on that without being a bit afraid of losing it. That's enough, now, and I'm not going to say another word." He was also sanguine as to the League pennant and said the White Stockings had to win it.

Thought They Were Sold Out.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 7.—Thomas Brown, of Decatur, Ils., and William Crider, of Lima, Ohio, each backed by a dozen or more friends, met by arrangement here Wednesday to run a foot race. J. W. Scott, of Decatur, was chosen referee, about $9,500 being wagered. Crider won the race by about four feet, and immediately jumped in a hack and was driven from the grounds, being joined by a friend who demanded and was given the stakes without any decision from the judges. Brown's backers claimed that he had sold them out, and raised a row that the police had to quell.

Practicing Base Ball.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Wednesday's practicing at base ball by the crack clubs showed the following scores: At Philadelphia—Athletic 3, Philadelphia 5; at Washington City—Washington 21, Williams College 1; at Cincinnati—Cincinnati 15, Syracuse Stars 8; at Baltimore—Baltimore 8, Buffalo 5; at St. Louis—St. Louis 17, Indianapolis 15; at New York—New York 8, Columbia College 2; at Brooklyn—Brooklyn 12, Boston Blues 3.

Slow Time for Ice Yachts.

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 7.—One of the finest ice yacht races of the season was sailed on Lake Champlain Wednesday morning, under the auspices of the Burlington Ice Yacht club. The race was for the championship pennant of the club and there were five starters. The race was won by the Brush, owned by Whiting & Rogers, in 85 minutes, 1 second. The distance was fifteen miles, triangular course.

Off-Hand Rifle-Shooting.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, April 7.—An off-hand rifle match was shot here Wednesday between C. N. Budd, of Des Moines, champion wing shot of the world, and W. W. Wormed. The range was 200 yards, and Mr. Wormod won.

In Town and Hamlet.

The seeds of intermittent and bilious remittent fever germinate and bear evil fruit. No community has altogether escaped it. In populous wards of large cities bad sewerage causes it, and in their suburbs stagnant pools in sunken lots breed it. There is at once a remedy and a means of prevention. Its name is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is, without peradventure, the most potent antidote in existence to malaria. With this incomparable, saving specific, miasmatic influences may be encountered with absolute impunity. Disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, begotten by miasma tainted water, or any other cause, succumb to the beneficent corrective named, and rheumatic, kidney and bladder troubles are surely removable by its use when it is given a persistent trial.

Do not fail to make a trial of Fairbank's Soap. Thousands of testimonials by housekeepers.

CROSSING THE SEA.

The Pen Picture of an Iceberg in Mid Ocean.

To the Gazette.

MAIDA VALE, SOMERSET TERRACE, }
CARLETON ROAD, }
LONDON, ENG., MARCH 26. }

The steamship "State of Nebraska," Capt. Braes, landed us safely in the old city of Glasgow just twelve days out from New York, counting as the mail steamships do it was many hours short of that, if we only count time from Sandy Hook, New York, to Greenock, Scotland. We passed a huge iceberg in mid ocean on Feb. 23. It had evidently become separated from the ice country and though a vast territory in itself, was still alone, covered as it was with snow and alive with birds on its roof, for on approaching, it appeared like a huge old castle—such as we see occasionally in our foreign journeys especially in the old regions that had their brief day and have become abandoned. From the centre the color changed as if it were a grand old entrance way with lamps in the feudal fashion, once so common and always imposing when held by carved stone lions, and colossal in their proportions. We could not see that that this iceberg moved in the least yet the current was undoubtedly carrying it southward. We went so near to this object that the glittering ice became like stone of the ocean color, and its snow top beautified with the ever moving snow and ice birds thousands in number. What they have to live upon is a wonder to many, they are so large and so swift that the eye can follow them only for a brief space. On the other side after we had passed very close to the front of the iceberg and upper side, the opposite one looked very much like a gigantic stone coffin or sarcophagus, a few of which have recently been unearthed in York, England, and are mammoth in size. The snow seemed almost the same color as the ancient stone sepulchres and gave us all a feeling of grandeur and gloom. Its icy atmosphere had already reached our ship many hours before we saw its cause. Our captain whose excellent judgment and wisdom told him what was in that region kept his post on deck through two nights and a day, yet we, the passengers, were quietly sleeping or enjoying some of the limited number of occupations peculiar to sea voyages. The American Consul and wife at Belfast Judge and Mrs Savage, were fellow-passengers and they with a young friend traveling in their company felt highly pleased that we had been so greatly favored with such a grand spectacle, seldom furnished to our American tourists on such voyages. Notwithstanding the punctuality of meals the attention of stewards and all the et ceteras that are gathered for amusement and time-killing on shipboard, we none of us regretted the welcome sound "land ahoy;" and though foggy and cold, we hastily snatched up our steamer rugs and rushed to the deck to see once more the terra firma our eyes longed to behold. But our eyes were not keen nor practical in discerning what we could not appreciate was really within our sight, had the misty fog lifted slightly. A few hours later, we could see Malvern Head, and more than a glad shout of thanks and praise arose from heart and lips that were not wholly unused to such things. Tory Island and the history of its strange king, gave us food for thought long after the voyage and its fellow travelers will have dimmed in memory. That rocky island has many a weird incident that would well furnish thrilling novels. Dreary and stony hedged it was yet a recognition that land was not afar and as the Irish coast, with its many lighthouses and romantic beauty confronted us on both sides for some hours, we scarce wished to change or thought of the brief hours left for us to enjoy the freedom of the sea or the easy friendships indulged during a long voyage. All the way to the Firth of Clyde, the scenery was beyond description, even the hazy atmosphere and oft-blending of a mild, sunny light, seemed to throw enchantment over the quiet picture, passing like a lovely panorama before our earnest eyes.

The grand old Scotch castles next came in view We left Ireland with all her beauty and her troubles on the other side and watched with eager eyes each new beauty of rock or mountain and the caves, made perhaps by freaks of the maddened sea. One beautiful country seat was closed—the master lies in a Scotch prison because the money wrongly taken from the bank of Glasgow, best we could moralize but for the memory of so many such cases in our well beloved country when perhaps the penalty for wrong has not been so swiftly followed the wrong doer. And here we may pause before going on to Greenock and thence landing at Glasgow.
CLARA B. WARNER.

SWAPPING EXPERIENCES.

The President and Jack Haverly Have a Talk in Private.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 7.—An unusually large crowd assembled in the East room Wednesday afternoon to shake hands with President Cleveland. The reception was not marked by any incidents of special interest. Before coming down stairs the president, by special appointment, received Mr. Haverly, the minstrel manager, and his business manager, Mr. Hugh Coyle, in the library, and had a long talk with them. The man of minstrel fame entertained the president with an insight into the vicissitudes of the minstrel manager's life, and in turn was charmed and edified by the president, who told him of the trials and tribulations and duties of a chief magistrate's life.

The president, Mr. Haverly said afterward, didn't look blue and didn't talk blue, and assured him that, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, the position brought with it cares and duties and responsibilities that afforded him plenty of mental and physical exercise. The interview was for these days rare, unique and agreeable, inasmuch as Mr. Haverly called merely to pay his respects and had nothing to ask for, and the president was not compelled to make provisional promises.

To Defend the America Cup.

BOSTON, April 7.—Gen. Charles J. Paine, owner of the Mayflower, has decided to build a steel center-board yacht, about the size of the Mayflower, to defend the America's cup. She will be smooth seamed, both above and below the water line. Mr. Edward Burgess is now at work on her lines, and the Pusey & Jones works, Wilmington, Del., have the contract for her construction. She will be eighty-six feet long on the water line, and much stiffer than the Mayflower.

Want to Build a Cruiser?

WASHINGTON CITY, April 7.—The secretary of the navy Wednesday afternoon issued advertisements for the construction of cruiser No. 1, called the Newark, 4,000 tons; cruisers Nos. 4 and 5, appropriated for in the last session of congress, not less than 4,000 tons, and nineteen knots, and gunboats Nos. 3 and 4, 1,700 tons.

Enjoy Life.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that Green's August Flower, will make them free from disease, as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of August Flower will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

AMUSEMENTS.

OLIVER BYRON.

The number of Janesville people anxious to be on the Inside Track was not remarkably large. Still last night's audience was a fair sized one and during Holy week nothing more could have been expected. The play presented abounds in sensation and gives opportunity for much strong acting. Of Oliver Byron's part this is especially true. As "Harry Denbigh," Parson Denbigh's wayward nephew, Mr. Byron won much applause and was several times called before the curtain. Kate Byron was somewhat of a disappointment. The part of "Jerry Twaddle" is not suited to her style and detracts much from the power of her acting.

The support last evening was very good. Fred Warren as the thief, Miss Lisle Leigh as Harry Denbighs sweetheart Miss Delaro as the thief's wife and E. F. Russel as John Foster were especially praiseworthy. Mention should also be made of the scenery, which was very well arranged. The fire scene was the most effective that has ever been produced on a Janesville stage.

Manager Myers has engaged the company for two nights next season. The plays will be that of last night and Byron's other success "Across the Continent."

GILMORE'S BAND.

The present tour of this great band was begun in New England, February 23. The Boston Herald said: "Mr. P. S. Gilmore probably indulges in the idea that his home is in New York City, but Boston will continue to claim him, despite his temporary residence at the metropolis. It is difficult to add to what has already been said about this great military band, as the merits of the organization and its corps of soloists have been admitted the world over. It is, all in all, the finest combination of instrumental players of this class known, and its performances have become long since a standard for criticism."

There are many preparations for the skin, each represented to be "just as good as Cuticream." They are not, but like all other preparations, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for Cuticream, and insist upon getting it; do not be persuaded into taking some inferior article represented to be "the same thing," for a simple comparison will at once convince you that Cuticream is superior to all other preparations for the skin.

CHAPTER 237.

AN ACT to amend chapter 197 of the general laws of 1881, entitled "an act to establish a municipal court for Rock county."

Section 1. Section 1, of said chapter 197, of the general laws of 1881 is hereby amended by inserting therein, after the words "other cases." and the words, "civil cases," in the thirty-seventh line of said section, the following: "Provided, that in civil cases appealable from justices' and police justices' judgments, the party appealing may, at his option, appeal to the circuit court for Rock county instead of to said municipal court.

Section 2. Section 5, of said chapter 197, is hereby amended by adding thereto, at the end thereof, the following: Said judge may also appoint one or more phonographic reporters, skilled in the art of short-hand reporting, for said court, and may remove them at pleasure and appoint others in their place. Every person so appointed shall be deemed an officer of said court, and before entering upon the duties of his office shall take and subscribe the constitutional oath and file the same, duly certified, with the clerk of said court. Every reporter so appointed shall attend upon said court whenever requested so to do by said judge, and discharge such duties as said judge may require. Every such reporter shall be allowed such compensation as shall be fixed by said judge, not exceeding five dollars per day for each day's actual attendance, or two dollars and fifty cents for each half day's attendance upon said court, when required by said judge to attend, which shall be certified, audited and paid in like manner as provided by law for the payment of the sheriff for attending upon the circuit court. But one such reporter shall be employed at the same time in said court. Section 2439, of the revised statutes of 1878 shall apply to such reporter and said municipal court; and section 4141, of said revised statutes shall apply to transcribed copies of the testimony and proceedings taken by such reporter in said municipal court.

Section 3. Section 7, of said chapter 197, is hereby amended by inserting after the word "provided," and before the words, "every person," in the fifty-ninth line of said section, the following: "And upon the written request of either party that a jury be drawn from the body of the county, the judge shall direct such list to be made from the body of the county, and a jury shall be obtained by striking twenty-four names from such list, and the persons represented by the twelve names remaining shall make a jury and be summoned as aforesaid: and talesmen, necessary for any cause, to complete the panel and make a jury, may be summoned from the body of the county."

Section 4.
